Apple Valley, Minn. native helps direct University of North Dakota’s award-winning television show

Averi Haugesag interning as the assistant director with the award-winning television show Studio One. She brings professionalism, effective communication and creative writing skills to the program. The show plays at 10:30 a.m. Wednesdays and Thursdays on Channel 6 in Minneapolis.

GRAND FORKS, N.D.— Apple Valley, Minn. native, Averi Haugesag is in her third semester as an intern for Studio One, an award-winning television show produced at the University of North Dakota. Previously, she has worked as a feature reporter and camera operator. Currently she serves as the program’s assistant director. “The skills and principles I’ve learned at Studio One will only help me to be more prepared and professional in the future,” says Haugesag.

In addition to her internship experience, she stays busy on campus. Haugesag edits video for UND athletics. She is a member of the National Society of Collegiate Scholars and Phi Eta Sigma honor societies. Haugesag is also a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority and serves as the Vice President of Education. She shares the history and significance of the chapter with new members.

Haugesag maintains a 4.0 GPA and was on the Dean’s List in 2012 and 2011. She received the D.J. Robertson award in 2011 and 2012 and was awarded the Community of Learners Scholarship. In 2011 she received the Edward J. Piette Leadership Scholarship.

She is a 2011 Eastview High School graduate and will graduate from UND in May 2015 with a degree in communication and minor in political science. She plans to become an anchor for a news station after graduation.
